

SAFE4HOURS

$3.99-$11.99

What good does a bandage do if it's always falling off? Safe4Hours First Aid Antiseptic Skin Protectant is the cure for your bandage dilemma. The lotion-like cream rubs into the skin, killing infection-causing bacteria and creating a protective barrier for four hours. As an added bonus, it moisturizes dry, chapped and cracked skin. Available in a 2-ounce bottle for travel and an 8-ounce bottle for home, you never have to be without it.

Purchase at Walgreen's. Visit www.safe4hours.com.

CITYSHADE

$69-$79

You can't avoid sunshine in South Florida, but you can avoid those bright rays from shining in Junior's face. Less complicated than using a blanket, the CityShade by CityMum fits onto a variety of stroller models, and if you have an incompatible stroller model, you can get a free quote for a custom-made shade. Visit www.citymum.com.

Baby K'tan

$59.99

You can't go wrong carrying your baby in comfort and style while supporting Down syndrome research. The Baby K'tan sling/carrier, which can be worn at least eight ways, goes over both shoulders to support mom or dad's back and carries babies up to 42 pounds. There's no wrapping involved, it's machine-washable, and a second loop acts a breast-feeding cover. And best of all, a portion of the proceeds from the sale of each Baby K'tan is donated to the American Heart Association and to help fund education and research for individuals and families living with Down syndrome. For a list of retailers, visit www.babyktan.com.

ZO-LI BUZZ B BATTERY-OPERATED NAIL TRIMMER

$25

No one likes getting scratched in the face, especially baby, even if he's doing it to himself. It's amazing how nails so tiny can be so menacing. And the thought of accidentally cutting off a chunk of your squirmy child's finger with nail clippers is even more frightening. Calm your fears with the battery-operated Buzz B nail trimmer, which has cushioned pads that move in an oscillating motion to not harm baby's surrounding skin. Purchase at www.zo-li.com

